

Guarding the DATA SECURITY Territory

Enhancing Data Security for
Compass Land Group

The Need for Data Protection in Real Estate

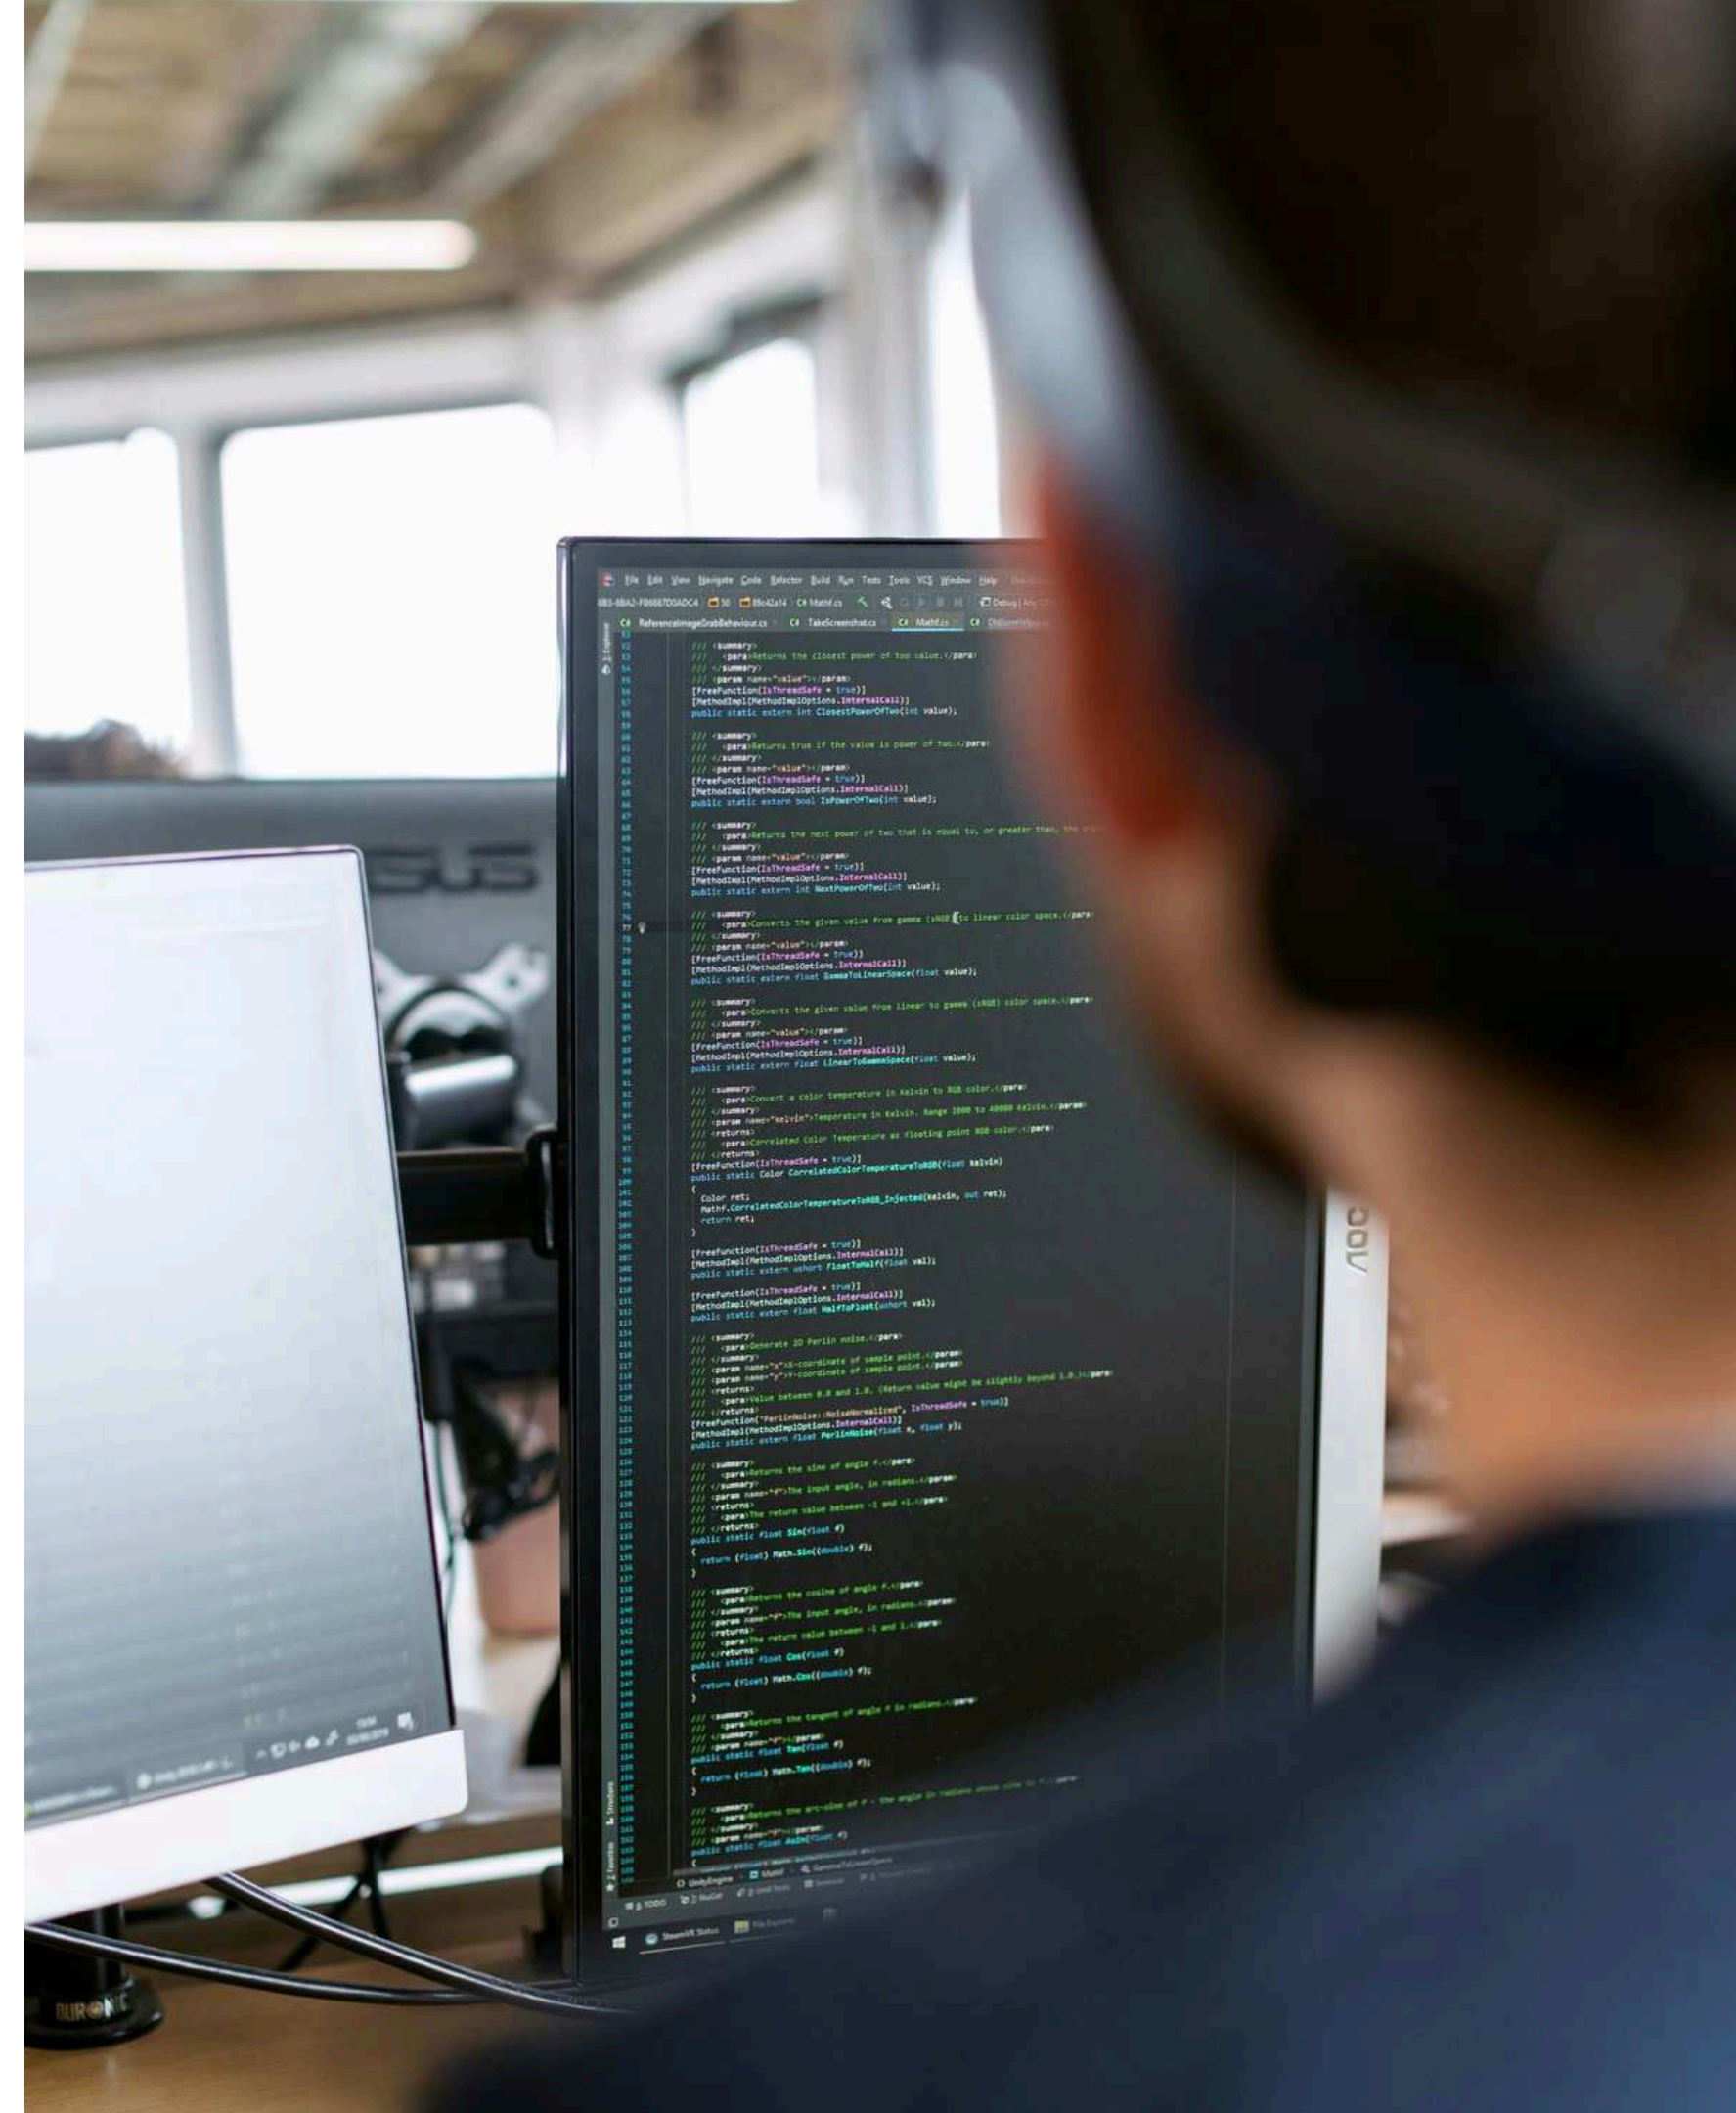

Compass Land Group, a dynamic real estate investment firm, operates in an industry where trust and data integrity are paramount. With a growing portfolio and an expanding client base, they faced the challenge of ensuring the security of sensitive information while maintaining transparency in their operations.

The firm sought a comprehensive solution that would enable them to monitor data usage, identify potential security risks, and protect their clients' assets. Understanding the importance of safeguarding their data, Compass Land Group approached us to implement Salesforce Shield, with a focus on real-time event monitoring and data protection.

Building Trust with Data

Implementing Salesforce Shield for Security

Our team at DTC Force worked closely with Compass Land Group to design and implement a Salesforce Shield solution that could meet their unique requirements. We configured Real-Time Event Monitoring, a powerful tool that provided a transparent view of how data was accessed, shared, and modified within the organization. This module allowed the leadership team to track activities such as report downloads, file exports, API calls, and user logins. By offering detailed insights into data interactions, Compass Land Group was now equipped with the tools to identify potential data leaks and security breaches before they could escalate, creating a robust defense for their business-critical information.

Data Transparency With Custom Dashboards

In addition to monitoring data usage, we created a custom Security Dashboard that provided real-time reports on key security metrics. The dashboard featured detailed reports on file access, user login history, API activity, and more. This intuitive interface allowed Compass Land Group to track data activity across multiple dimensions, enabling their team to respond swiftly to any suspicious behavior.

Furthermore, by training their internal team on how to create and customize additional reports, we ensured that they had full control over their data security and could adapt their monitoring to any future requirements.

Comprehensive Org Evaluation and Training

As part of the implementation, we conducted an Org Evaluation to review historical activity within Compass Land Group's Salesforce instance. This process involved identifying any unusual patterns of data access or usage that could pose a risk to the organization. We examined report and dashboard exports, file downloads, and API usage to ensure no unauthorized access had occurred. In tandem with this, we provided a live training session for the team, ensuring that Compass Land Group's staff was fully prepared to leverage Salesforce Shield's capabilities, manage security settings, and continuously monitor their data environment with confidence.

A Scalable Solution for Ongoing Protection

With Salesforce Shield now in place, Compass Land Group is well-positioned to handle the growing complexity of their real estate business. The implementation has significantly enhanced their ability to monitor and safeguard sensitive data in real time, ensuring that their clients' information remains protected. As the company continues to expand, the scalable nature of Salesforce Shield allows Compass Land Group to adapt their security measures as needed, ensuring long-term protection and compliance. This partnership has empowered Compass Land Group to build a secure foundation for the future, bolstering trust with their clients and partners.
